

ARMY SITUATION HERE UNCHANGED

Officials Meet With Ministerial Association to Give Their Version

NO NEW EVIDENCE IS GIVEN

Association Will Not Change Stand to Withdraw Support—Army Post Will Be Continued.

Brigadier A. E. Kimball, of Detroit, Mich., commanding the province of Michigan and Indiana in the Salvation Army, and Major Thomas Cowan, head of the army in Indiana, met with the Rushville Ministerial Association yesterday evening to discuss the recent unexplained dismissal of Capt. C. F. A. Mitchell from the local corps. Adjutant A. E. Bates of Indianapolis was also present.

The situation is just as it was before the meeting, it was stated this morning by a member of the ministerial association. The association will remain by its stand announced following the discharge of Captain Mitchell. The support of the churches of the city has been withdrawn from the Army.

Two different meetings were held. In the afternoon the ministers met with the Army officials at the First Presbyterian church because the Army demanded a hearing so that it could present its version of the Mitchell case before the Association passed its verdict finally.

At this session Miss Anna Bohannon and James Locke, both of whom for years were actively engaged in the Pearl street church, presented the situation as it is now and as it was when they were taking part. Their statements were in effect that the work was not being carried on as effectively as it once was.

Following the summary dismissal, without cause, of the former captain here, the ministerial association, after giving Captain Mitchell a hearing, withdrew its support from the Army and announced that it would not stand responsible for any part in the annual budget. The association stated then that it felt Capt. Mitchell was dismissed because his stipend to state headquarters was not large enough.

Yesterday afternoon at the conference it was suggested by the ministerial association that the Salvation Army withdraw all together from the city and leave its work to the churches. The association feels the work could be taken care of better by a combined effort of the churches than under the present plan.

The Salvation Army considered the suggestion of the association, but acted on it unfavorably at the night meeting. The Army will continue its post here, but will expect no assistance from the churches. The Army officials issued the following statement this morning:

"There was a special meeting at the Salvation Army hall in South Pearl street to consider the future of that organization's work in the city.

"Brigadier A. E. Kimball of Detroit, Major Thomas Cowan and Adjutant A. E. Bates of Indianapolis were present to look into the situation and a general discussion followed, which was participated in by members of the Ministerial association, consisting of the Rev. C. M. Yocum, president, the Rev. J. B. Meacham and the Rev. S. G. Huntington, in addition to the local adherents and soldiers of the Salvation Army.

"After a thorough discussion and canvass of the entire situation, the question of the Salvation Army continuing their work in this city was placed before the members and adherents, and upon a rising vote it

DR. J. G. LEWIS ASKS DIVORCE

Physician Alleges Wife Abandoned Him Through no Fault of His.

John G. Lewis, a well known physician of this city, has filed suit for divorce from his wife, Laura J. Lewis. Dr. Lewis alleges that his wife abandoned him through no fault of his. The complaint states that they were married Dec. 26, 1888 and separated April 8, 1910. It is stated that on April 8, 1910 she left him and has refused since to live with him. Dr. Lewis asks the custody of their child John W. Lewis, age 15, John H. Kiplinger represents Dr. Lewis.

CITY IS GRANTED CHANGE OF VENUE

Suit Wm. A. Jones Brought Against Rushville For $1,000 Damages Sent to Shelbyville.

SAYS HE HAD NO CONTRACT

A change of venue was granted this morning in the case of William A. Jones against the City of Rushville, and it was sent to Shelby county for trial. L. L. Broadus of Connersville was appointed special judge in this case by Judge Megee when it was first filed. It had been set down for trial when the change of venue was asked. Ten days were given in which to perfect the change. Mr. Jones demands $1,000 of the city for damage alleged to have been done him by the city drilling two water wells on his land east of the city. He alleges that the city had no contract with him and had no right to enter his land and drill the wells. The mains extend through the field. The change of venue was asked by the city.

BOARD REJECTS ALL OF THE BIDS

Believes Plans For Vacuum Cleaner For Court House Didn't Call For One Large Enough.

JOINT MEETING TO BE HELD

The county commissioners, in stead of accepting the bid of the Invinible Manufacturing company for the vacuum cleaner yesterday afternoon as was expected, rejected all bids. The commissioners wished to investigate the matter further. It is understood they were afraid the plans did not call for a large enough machine. The appropriation was $600 and the low bid was $578.

Joseph Dickman was officially appointed custodian of the court house at a salary of $70 a month. It has been known for some time that Dickman was to get this job, since Arthur Crull could not serve, but it was not made a matter of record until yesterday. The petition of J. A. Hardin and company to be released from the contract of building the William J. Leisure road was denied.

A joint session of the Fayette, Henry and Rush county commissioners will be held in Newcastle April 25, when they will consider the petition of George Lamberson and others for a county line gravel road, which will be three and one-quarter miles long. The proposed road passes through Posey township in Fayette county, Washington township in Rush county, and Dudley and Franklin townships in Henry county.

WATER BILL TO BE COMPROMISED

Council Will Follow Suggestions of State Commission and Deduct 3 Percent From I. & C. Account.

METER RAN LITTLE TOO FAST

Petition to Pave Second Street From Jackson to Oliver is Presented—Other Petitions Filed.

The report from the Public Service commission on the meter that was taken from the Indianapolis and Cincinnati traction station in this city and tested in Indianapolis was read to the council last night. The meter was tested at the plant of the Indianapolis Water company and showed that it was a little fast.

The report that was received from the meter inspector stated that he found a leak 1/16 of an inch in the toilet room of the traction company. He stated that this loss of water amounted to eighty-six cents a day. The city contended all the time that the I. & C. had a leak and that the meter was registering correctly. The bill amounting to $108 will be compromised along the line suggested by the commission.

They advised that three per cent be deducted from the bill because of the fact that the meter was fast. It will be remembered that the I. & C. registered several complaints with the city because it was believed that the meter was not registering correctly and objected to the bill. The city insisted that the bill be paid and then the traction company appealed to the public service commission. A petition was filed asking for a meter inspection.

Now that the meter has been inspected an effort will be made to settle with the traction company along the line suggested by the commission. This means that the city will deduct $3.25 from the original bill. If a compromise is reached, and it is said it will be, the petition filed with the commission will be dismissed. The city council believed this was the best course as a new rate schedule will soon be filed with the commission and this will fix the rates as they should be, and conform with what the I. & C. alleged against the city.

While the city agreed to a compromise, the officials do not believe the meter was faulty. It has been sent to the factory at Pittsburg where a true test can be made. It is believed that the test made in Indianapolis was not a fair one as the water there is not the same as here and it is said this might make a difference. Whether the meter is right or wrong the difficulty between the I. & C. and the city will be settled, as the council thought this was best for all concerned.

A petition signed by several property owners asking that Second street, from where the brick now ends, to Oliver street, be paved, was presented to the council. The petition asked the city to pave and as the city is not well supplied with money, action on the petition was deferred until an investigation could be made. The council will investigate and report at the next meeting. It was generally agreed that the street needed paving but the council desired to have an estimate on how much it was to cost the city.

A petition was presented asking that the city extends electric wires for commercial service in East Seventh street, from the Graham school to the corporation line. This section of the city has street lights but no

TWO COMPLAINTS ASK $5,000 EACH

Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Trabue Bring Separate Suits Against Benjamin F. Martin

OUTGROWTH OF AN ACCIDENT

Alleged Defendant Ran Automobile Into Buggy in Which Mrs. Trabue and Children Rode.

Benjamin F. Martin, a well known farmer living near Raleigh, was made the defendant in two damage suits for $5,000 each in the circuit court this morning. The suits were filed by Mrs. Leora A. Trabue and her husband, Harry C. Trabue.

Mrs. Trabue alleges that she was permanently injured on April 9, 1912 when Mr. Martin drove his automobile into the buggy in which she and her children were driving. According to the complaint, the accident occurred three-quarters of a mile north of Mays.

It is stated in the complaint that the road at the point where the accident occurred is narrow and that Mr. Martin approached the rig from the rear and in a careless and negligent manner hit the buggy. It is also asserted that he was driving at an excessive rate of speed, estimated in the complaint at 20 miles an hour. The complaint states that the defendant did not give her any warning of his approach, and when he attempted to pass on the narrow road, the auto hit the buggy a hard blow.

Mrs. Trabue was thrown to the floor of the buggy and it is alleged that she suffered injuries that are permanent. She states that her body was bruised, her shoulder twisted, her hip injured and that she suffered a nervous shock and that one of her kidneys was torn loose. The complaint is in two paragraphs. The second tells that she was accompanied by her three children.

The complaint of Harry Trabue recites practically the same as that of his wife in regards to the accident and he bases his claim for damages on the loss of companionship and the services of his wife. He states that the buggy was damaged to the extent of $35.

Samuel L. Trabue, a brother of Harry Trabue, represents the plaintiffs.

WILL SETTLE CONTROVERSY

United States to Pay Columbia $25,000,000 For Panama.

(By United Press.)

Washington, April 8.—The United States government will pay $25,000,000 in gold to the Columbian government in a treaty settling the Panama canal controversy, according to an announcement made today by the Columbian legation here today. It was stated these terms were provided in the treaty signed last night at Bogota. It was expected the state department would give out no statement until the American minister at Bogota had sent in a report.

CHARGE AGAINST O'NEILL.

[Special to the Daily Republica.]
Knightstown, April 8.—Luther O'Neill, proprietor of a pool and billiard parlor here, was arrested Monday by Marshal Charles Martin, charged with operating a gaming house. He was released on bond and will have his trial Thursday morning before Squire Rufe Davis.

PLANS FINALLY ACCEPTED

School Board Will Advertise For Bids Within a Week.

The city school board went to Indianapolis yesterday and accepted the plans of the architect for the new school building which is to be erected by next fall at the opening of school on the east end of the Graham school lot. The plans will be ready within a week so that the board can advertise for bids. The advertisement will run 21 days before the contract is let.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY WAS POSTPONED

"Man From Borneo" Will Not be Presented by Arlington Students Until Week From Last Night.

COMMENCEMENT THURSDAY

The play which was to have been given by the Arlington high school last night was postponed for a week because of the illness of one of the principals in the cast. Great preparations have been made for "The Man From Borneo." It will be presented next Tuesday night, April 14. The senior class will issue an annual this year that is expected to eclipse any similar attempt ever made by any high school in the county.

The commencement exercises will be held tomorrow evening in the Arlington Christian church. The invocation will be pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Bare, the Christian minister and the class address will be delivered by the Rev. L. E. Brown of Connersville. Downey's orchestra will play. The diplomas will be presented by County Superintendent C. M. George and the benediction will be pronounced by the Rev. Daniel Ryan, M. E. minister at Arlington. Charles Sterling of Morristown is the principal of the high school and John Geraghty of this city is assistant.

OBJECTS TO ROLE OF ENOCH ARDEN

Harry Scott at Shelbyville Denies Romantic Tale Which His Former Wife Related.

GOT DIVORCE 15 YEARS AGO

(By United Press.)

Shelbyville, Ind., April 8.—Harry Scott objected today to the romantic role of Enoch Arden when he read the story that his wife had mourned him dead and then had married twice, with no divorce having been obtained, and that "he dropped in on her unexpectedly as though returning from the grave." He decided to tell the whole story himself.

Scott was mourned as dead up to last fall when his former wife, now Mrs. Reuben Brown, learned he had not been killed in a wreck as was first believed. Before the wreck Scott obtained a divorce from the present Mrs. Brown at Vincennes. That was 15 years ago. Mrs. Scott then married William Tucker, was divorced from him and married Reuben Brown. Meanwhile Scott had married.

FIGHT CENTERS ON B. L. MCFARLAN

Dr. W. S. Coleman Enters List Today as Candidate for Director of Telephone Company

ELECTION IS FRIDAY NIGHT

His Victory May Mean That W. T. Jackson Will be Replaced as Secretary and Manager

Four directors for the Rushville Co-operative Telephone company are to be elected at the annual stock holders meeting to be held in the assembly room of the court house Friday night at seven-thirty o'clock. The terms of Ben L. McFarlan, W. A. Jones, J. M. Amos and R. F. Scudder expire and all, it is understood, are candidate for re-election.

It has been some years since a real fight has developed in the stockholders meeting but one is likely to come Friday night as there will be opposition to Ben L. McFarlan. Dr. Will S. Coleman will oppose Mr. McFarlan and if he is elected, it may mean that W. T. Jackson will be replaced as secretary and manager. From all indications the other men will have no opposition and the fight will center around McFarlan.

It is said that both sides are hard at work getting proxies and promises of the stockholders to attend the meeting. The manager of the local plant is employed by the directors, and with Dr. Coleman on the board, it is understood that there are enough opposed to W. T. Jackson to oust him and put a new man in the place.

Dr. Coleman entered the race only yesterday and for the time it looked as though McFarlan would have easy sliding. For the past few years, there has been some opposition to Mr. McFarlan but he has always won out. For some time there has been talk of a change in the directorship and the friends of both men were quite active today since it became known that Dr. Coleman was in the race.

Besides the annual election of directors, the managers report will be given. The report should prove quite interesting. Since the last annual meeting the telephone company has spent something like $40,000 in improvements and the financial condition of the company will be given in the report.

ELECTION POSTPONED.

The Rushville Gun and Country club was to have elected officers last night but because of the small attendance the election was postponed. No definite date has been set for the election but it will probably be held this spring at the gun club grounds.

The Manufacturer's Short Cut to Sales

Local dealers are awakening to the advantage of co-operating with manufacturers who assist them in making a market by advertising in the newspapers of their towns.

This very pulling-together spirit goes a long way towards making sales.

The response to this newspaper advertising is direct and highly profitable. No money is wasted in making a market where there is no distribution.

Convinced Both English and Arabs. Lieutenant Waghorn found it difficult to convince the British postoffice of the value of the isthmus of Suez as a means of shortening the letter route to India. He guaranteed to transmit a bag of letters to India and return with others to England in the same time it took the letters to go. He was granted permission to make the attempt and difficulties at once cropped up. Coal at Port Said was $30 a ton, at Suez $100, so he loaded camels with coal and took them across the isthmus. When he reached Suez with the letters the steamer which he had arranged to meet him was not there. This difficulty he surmounted by chartering an open Arab boat and forcing the crew at the pistol point to take him the 600 miles down the Red sea to Jeddah, where he found a steamer to take him to Bombay and the return journey he completed well within the time. Thenceforward the isthmus route became the overland route, for Waghorn was able to convince the Arabs that the protection of the mails was better than looting them. English gold being his strongest argument.

How to Live to Be a Hundred.
Eight hours' sleep every night. Sleep on your right side. Keep your bedroom window open. Have a mat at your bedroom door. Keep your bed away from the wall. No cold bath in the morning, but a bath at the temperature of the body. Exercise before breakfast. Eat little meat and be sure that it is well cooked. Drink no milk. (This applies to adults only.) Eat plenty of fat to feed the cells which destroy disease germs. Avoid intoxicants, which destroy the cells that combat disease. Allow no pet animals in your living rooms, for they carry disease germs. Live in the country if you can. Watch the three D's—drinking water, damp and drains. Have change of occupation. Take frequent and short holidays. Limit your ambition. Keep your temper.—Maxims of Sir James Sawyer, English Physician.

Historic Sense of Americans.
The good American does not feel a stranger over here and we regard him as one of our own family. But why does he come? Not altogether because the call of a common heritage impels him, not entirely drawn by the attractions, commercial, artistic, social and natural, of London and England. He comes chiefly, perhaps, in obedience to the historic sense which is innate in good Americans. Wherever the historic sense may best be satisfied—in Rome, Athens, Paris, Madrid or Constantinople—there the American is found. He may win his satisfaction in a frenzied flurry with guidebooks and binoculars, only half digesting the glories that he seamps. That is the defect of his quality, the consequences of the habits of life which America has thrust upon its sons. But the historic sense is there and, even unconsciously, your good American is its obedient slave.—London Express.

Didn't Like the Method.
Jean longed for a kitten with all her heart, but her mother was not fond of cats, so she was not allowed to have one in spite of her eager pleadings. At length it became necessary for Jean to go to the hospital for an operation. "I will make a bargain with you, Jean," said her mother. "If you will be a brave little girl about having your operation you shall have the very nicest kitten I can find." Jean climbed upon the operating table and took the ether without a struggle. As she came out from under the influence of the anaesthetic and began to realize how sick and wretched she felt the nurse leaned over to catch her first spoken word. "What a bum way to get a cat!"—Delineator.

Two Pictures.
One man walks solemnly, with puckered brow and eyes cast down, thinking of a thousand frets, dreading tomorrow and regretting yesterday. Another laughs and whistles, careless in every step and gesture, looking at the trees and the flowers and the white clouds and the blue sky—looking, above all, at human faces, and making them smile back at him. Which of these men do you think is the wiser? Which is more like you?—Youth's Companion.

One of the most beautiful studies of the life of Anne Boleyn and Henry VIII. is a three reel subject to be released by the Eclipse company of Paris. The scenario was prepared by the French novelist, Max Pemberton. Laura Cowie of His Majesty's theater, London, plays Anne Boleyn, and Mr. Decoeur of Sarah Bernhardt theater, Paris, plays Henry VIII.

At a cost of $70,000 the Kalem company has just completed a five part reproduction of the conquest of Quebec. This extraordinary photo play, a special feature production, "Wolfe, or the Conquest of Quebec," will shortly be seen in motion picture theaters.

Maxim Gorky, the Russian writer, has entered into a contract with an American film company by which he undertakes to write ten film plays, most of them typical of Russian life.

A new factor has entered the feature film situation in Ohio. The Independent Features company has been organized with an avowed policy of releasing one feature a day. The entire output of the Great Northern Special, Solax, Blache, Gaumont, Film Releases of America, Itala and Ammex, beginning with the March releases, are taken by the Independent.

Society News

The Womans' Home Missionary society of the St. Paul M. E. church will meet Thursday afternoon at two-thirty o'clock at the home of Miss Anna Poundstone in North Harrison street.

The ninetieth birthday anniversary of Susan Tingley was made most enjoyable for her by a large number of friends who called during the day and greeted her. A pitch-in supper was enjoyed by a number of the people who were interested in making the aged woman happy. Those who called during the day left a gift of some sort. Many of the remembrances were bouquets which made the home of Mrs. Tingley a veritable bower of flowers.

Amusements

The Portola will show an Edison comedy-drama "The Perfect Truth" for the first picture tonight. Mary Fuller is featured and it is the first of the "Dolly of Dailies" series of pictures. The other is a two reel Kalem drama "The Masquerader." Carlyle Blackwell and Jane Wolfe are featured. Friday night the feature picture "Beasts of the Jungle" will be shown.

The Princess will show the usual three reels tonight. The first is a Biograph drama "The Fallen Angel." It is said to tell a beautiful story. The second is an Essanay drama "The Testing Fire." Irene Warfield, Richard Travis and Lillian Drew are featured. The last is a Vitagraph comedy entitled "Scotland Forever." Hughie Mack is shown in this one.

The Gem will show a three reel Bison drama "The Mad Hermit" for tonight. Grace Cunard and Francis Ford are featured. It is said to be a thrilling western production and is taken amid beautiful scenery. Large crowds attended the show last night and saw Florence Lawrence. The Universal pictures are becoming quite popular here.

DRAIN OUT BLOOD, PURIFY, PUT BACK

Surgeons of Johns Hopkins Perform Marvelous Feat.

HEART ACTION UNDISTURBED

Every Drop of Fluid Removed From Body of a Dog and Run Through Fifty Foot Coil of Tubes—Mysterious Force, Not Weight or Convolutions, Gives Brain Power, Says Dr. Mellus.

Three doctors from Johns Hopkins university of Baltimore, by actual demonstration on a living animal, showed members of the Federation of American Societies For Experimental Biology, in session in Philadelphia, that it was possible to remove every drop of blood from a living animal, clean the blood of its impurities and return it to the animal without interrupting the heart beats.

The demonstration was made on a dog. The demonstrators were Professor J. J. Abel and two of his colleagues, Dr. L. G. Rountree and Dr. B. B. Turner, all of Johns Hopkins. In their experiment they had every drop of blood out of the dog's body and coursing through a coil of tubes whose connected length measured nearly fifty feet.

Onlookers Amazed. Scientists who watched the demonstration in wonder saw the entire circulation of an animal going on in glass tubes outside the animal's body and blood propelled through the tubes by the action of the dog's heart, which never stopped beating while they watched it.

At the same time, by the use of a salt solution, through which the blood was coursing, the animal's blood was being purified of sugar, urea and all diffusible materials. By varying the solution and sending the blood through chemicals of different sorts, other kinds of poisons can be removed from the blood by the same process.

Professor Abel and his colleagues would venture no prediction as to a practical application of their method. Scientists who witnessed the demonstration, however, did not conceal their enthusiasm over the channel of opportunity opened up by the Baltimore men.

"If this method of diffusion removes urea from the blood," said one, "it can be used as a cure for uraemia. By varying the chemical the same process can be used to remove acetone from the blood, the poison associated with nephritis."

May Remove Bichloride. Dr. W. Salant, head of the federal public health service at Washington, made this comment:

"This apparatus is positively the newest thing for cleansing the blood. It is the most interesting thing in this convention. It may be possible, though I have not tested this machine, to remove bichloride of mercury from the blood."

Dr. A. J. Carlson of the University of Chicago demonstrated on himself the efficiency of a hunger testing machine, which is his own invention.

Dr. Carlson defined hunger as a sensation which arises in the stomach, while appetite, he explained, is a nervous phenomenon of the brain. He swallowed a small cigar shaped rubber balloon which had been fitted with long rubber tubes, inflated the balloon in his stomach through the tubes and then attached the latter to sensitized paper.

Hunger, he said, caused the muscles of the stomach to grip the balloon and drive out the air which registered the amount of hunger on the sensitized paper.

Upsets Old Brain Theories.

In a recent paper read before the American Physiological society of the University of Pennsylvania by Dr. E. Linden Mellus of Johns Hopkins university he contradicted the theory accepted by many scientists that the intellectual prowess of human beings depends to a large extent on the convolutions and size of the brain. His announcement was assumed to have opened up an entirely new field for scientific research.

"The theory that the weight of a brain has anything to do with its efficiency," Dr. Mellus said, "was of course exploded long ago. The later theory, generally accepted, that intricate convolutions were a sign of brain power or efficiency seems based rather on the desire for anatomic explanation than on any procurable facts. I have investigated countless brains of all classes of individuals, and I have yet to meet with anything that would bear out this theory."

The results of investigations, said the physician, convinced him that some mysterious force not yet found or defined and as strange as the nerve impulse itself animated the brain cells, changed their formation and their relations and thus made for or against mental efficiency regardless of the size, weight or outward appearance of the brain itself.

Miss Versie Viola Higgs is ill at her home in North Jackson street.

tance were carried on yesterday, but none will have the widespread effect of that one in the seventh New Jersey congressional district where the Republican candidate received within 392 as many votes as the Democratic, Socialist and Progressive candidates against him. His vote was double that received by the Democrat who polled only 25 more votes than the Socialist candidate. The Progressive vote was practically nothing.Figures, with two out of 112 election districts missing, are as follows:
Druker (Republican), 10,469;
O'Byrne (Democrat), 5,143; Dearest (Socialist, 5,118; Whitehead (Progressive), estimated 600.The election becomes the more important when it is considered thatthe campaign was purely on national issues. The Democratic candidate was indorsed by President Wilson and was one of the so-called "forward lookers." Evidently the people of this district believe in the great principal of protection which has been bandied about so much of late.To offset the baneful effect of this election, the chairman of the Democratic congressional committee issues a statement in which he said any other sort of a result would have been a miracle because the district is normally Republican. We did not presume to believe that there was a Democrat remaining who would admit anything was Republican. According to advises from the opposition since November, 1912, there's ben no Republican party. But to their sorrow, the Democrats and Progressives are finding there is a Republican party.The chairman of the Democratic committee was reminded that a Democrat was elected from this district before. This was after the district had been changed so as to make it Republican. But the chairman says the Democratic candidate in the election before yesterday's was elected because of his tremendous popularity, all of which must be taken with a large dose of salts.The elections in Illinois yesterday proved that the women did not do all that it was expected they would.
They helped, no doubt, in making twelve counties "dry," but several of the larger cities in the state remained "wet." All of the women candidates in Chicago were defeated. The suffragists were very much elated by the vote their candidates polled and say that the election yesterday was only an entering wedge.Aspects of EasterIn the minds of many people, Easter suggests mostly spring millinery, colored eggs, rabbits, post cards, and other illogical methods of telling the world that the Lord has risen.Even the anthems that the choir is practising may not have the worshipful spirit. Sometimes you could shut your eyes, and if you did not catch the words, you could dream yourself at a comic opera.The chorus of men has a perfect two-step rythm. You could imagine it sung by a company of bandits who are about to seize the soprano for a ransom. Then comes the haunting love song of the tenor. You could fancy him making eyes at the heroine through the stage shabbery.As for clothes, it is customary to study spring styles Easter day by posting yourself at the door of a fashionable church.But freakishness often cures itself and fashion is fickle. In the large cities such a jostling mob has turned out to see the Easter parade, that the higher ups have fled to more exclusive scenes.When Miss Sophie Czelusnaik, boarding house waitress fresh from Poland, appears with a $3 tropical foliage hat surrounding her snubnose, older residents are apt to retire from the game, leaving new finery in the seclusion of the hat box.Nevertheless, the Easter thought has two sides. It not merely brings the sweet and solemn confidence that the grave has lost its sting, and that death is an illusion, but it stands for the renewal of all life, in large things and small.All the mirth of the spring-tide finds natural expression. It tells of the greening of the fields, of the rise of the budding plant from sacred Mother Earth, of the frolicsome lamb beside its mother.You can no more prevent womanly beauty from blossoming Easter day, or the choir from singing music with rythm and sparkle, than you can go out in the fields and tell the flowers they would better not bloom. But let the blooming proceed from pure joyousness, not from the desire of the crocus to outshine the daffodil!Fakes and FakirsIt appears that all of the committees of the Rush county Chamber of Commerce are going to find plenty to do, but it is doubtful if any will be any more important than the fakes and fakirs committee. A part of the duties of that committee would be to see that the city ordinance concerning the fees charged peddlers and all classes of street corner fakirs be enforced to the letter.The ordinance provides that all this sort of itinerants pay the city marshall a minimum of two dollars or maximum of six dollars a day as a fee for the right to sell their wares in the city. These fly-by-night gentlemen all belong to the flim-flaming fraternity and they are looking for "suckers." They invade most county seat towns in the spring of the year with all sorts of trinkets and cure-alls.It is not only an injustice to the merchants of Rushville who do a legitimate business here and make Rushville their home and contribute to its upkeep, but it is also an injustice to all to allow this class of venders to prey on the people of the city and county. An enforcement of the city ordinance by charging the maximum fee would keep from the city the most of the street corner venders.Heretofore it has been the custom to charge the itinerants the minimum fee, and that kept none of them out, because they could easily make that sum back with a few sales, but it is very probable that many of them would hesitate before they risked six dollars a day. The ordinance leaves the fee charged at the discretion of the city marshall, but it is very probable that he would co-operate with the Chamber of Commerce committees to keep the undesirables out of the city by charging the maximum fee if approached on the matter.The point has been raised at Richmond and it has been found that the mayor there has very decided opinions on the subject of fakirs. He would bar them all from the city if the law permits. If the refusal of a license in any way conflicts with the city ordinance, he will ask the council to amend it so as to give him authority to take such action."These fellows are, almost without exception, cheats and they engage in unfair competition with responsible local dealers," said the mayor of Richmond. "The street corner quacks sell concoctions which are of no benefit to their victims and which frequently are harmful to them. The old fashioned corner 'medicine show'
is no longer tolerated in Richmond, and there is no reason why quacks should be permitted to ply their trade here. To see a bunch of these frauds holding forth on various street corners gives the town a 'jay' appearance."

At Anderson, Ind., the mayor recently put the ban on street fakirs and his action has been commended by the press all over the northern part of the state. It is understood the mayor of Anderson ruled against them on the ground they were public nuisances.Doctors Said He Had DropsySome time ago I had an attack of grippe which finally settled in my kidneys and bladder. I doctored with the doctors and they claimed I had dropsy.

I tried other remedies and got no relief from any of them. My condition was such that I was unable to work for about two months and the annoying symptoms caused me a great deal of trouble and pain. I was hardly able to turn over in bed. Seeing one of your English coal mine near Newcastle a little drama in which there were but two actors—the one a clergyman, the other a miner. The latter was busily picking out the coal by the light of a "steel mill" when he saw approaching him a light. The miner knew the gas-y nature of the pit and shouted, "Put out the light!" but no notice was taken even when prayers took the place of oaths. The newcomer was the Rev.

John Hodgson, rector of Jarrow, and he had in his hand the first Davy safety lamp, now safely housed in the Museum of Practical Geology in Jermyn street, London. Sir Humphry Davy when urged to patent it replied: "It might undoubtedly enable me to put four horses in my carriage. But what could it avail me to have it said that Sir Humphrey drives his carriage and four bought at the expense of miners' lives?"Tennyson's Terror.At the time when rumors of the probable marriage of the Marquis of Lorne and Princess Louise were floating about London Tennyson had one day a number of guests at luncheon, among whom was the Marquis of Lorne. In the course of talk the marquis told Tennyson, then poet laureate, that the queen liked his new volume.
"I am glad to hear it," Tennyson said in his sonorous, slow, musical bass voice. "I have given a good account of her in that volume, but the newspapers didn't like my rimes—say they are bad. I live in terror," he continued, "of any of the queen's family marrying and of hearing from her that she hopes I will write something. I have no news of that kind yet, but I live in terror of it."

This with a solemnly sly wink.

was decided unanimously that the work be continued under the auspices of the Salvation Army with the full expectation that their action in the matter would be justified by results later on.

"The meeting adjourned with the best feeling existing among all parties concerned as far as could be observed."

"The Ministerial Association gave out the following statement today: 'At a meeting of the Rushville Ministerial Association held in the First Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon and attended by Brigadier A. E. Kimball, Major Thos. Cowan, and adjutant A. E. Bates of the Salvation Army the attitude of the association in the Captain Mitchell case was unchanged, inasmuch as the officers produced no new evidence.'

"Believing that the religious work being done in the Pearl street church could be carried on far more effectively by the united efforts of the churches of Rushville, the belief being based on the actual experience there when the churches were in charge of the work in connection with the Army and before the army took complete charge, the Association recommended that the Salvation Army withdraw its corps and leave the work in local hands. The Association pledged itself to aggressively take hold of the work, should it be turned over to them, and to so organize it as to make it most effective."

"At a meeting of the local corps last night the recommendation was acted upon unfavorably, it being decided to keep the corps intact. In doing so the Brigadier made it plain to members of the local corps that they would be expected to furnish support to their captain, and that they were not to look to the local churches for assistance in this regard."

"Three of the ministers were present at the meeting last night and each expressed his hearty sympathy and appreciation of the work of the Salvation Army generally and made it plain that the attitude of the church people of Rushville is not an attitude of antagonism but that it springs from a desire to do more and better work than is now being done by the army here."

TO LENGTHEN LIFE IS OBJECT OF SOCIETY HEADED BY TAFT

Will Teach Hygiene and the Prevention of Disease. National In Scope.

Colonel Gorgas of Panama Fame Chief Consultant. $1,000,000 For Work.

WITH former President Taft as chairman of its board of directors and Colonel William C. Gorgas of the Panama canal commission as consultant in sanitation and hygiene, a "life extension institute" has just been incorporated in New York.

It is a unique corporation—the business basis of a philanthropy. Its express purpose being to lengthen human life by applying modern science. It will perform this service both for life insurance companies and for the general public by examining periodically the physical condition of policy holders and other individuals and by disseminating life saving knowledge.

No Lack of Funds.

While essentially philanthropic, the Life Extension Institute, unlike some other agencies to promote health and longevity, will be placed on a self sup-tension institute will be to bring about a closer relation between as large a portion of the public as we can reach and their medical advisers and to spread abroad knowledge to promote health and prevent disease which will be the fruit of research by the best medical minds in the world.

"In the promotion of health and longevity there are two distinct fields. One is treatment. That is filled by the physicians, and the institute will in no wise encroach upon it. The other is prophylaxis. This is our field, and we intend to bring to our work in that field the ripened fruits of scientific discovery and experience for the protection and preservation of health and the prevention of disease."

Board of Health Experts.

The institute has a "hygienic reference board" of almost a hundred leading experts on various subjects pertaining to health. The purpose of this board is to help to determine the truth on hygienic questions referred to it. The chairman of the board is Professor Irving Fisher of Yale, who was among the first to interest life insurance companies in the possibilities of lengthening human life. The board also includes Dr. Lee K. Frankel, head of the extensive social service of the Metropolitan; Dr. Burnside Foster, who was the first to advocate free medical examinations for policy holders; Walter H. Page, United States ambassador to England, who has been especially active in the movement to fore it is too late, has greatly reduced the death rate among those who had the good fortune to take the examinations.

The institute will carry on this health conservation work of an insurance company, which has for several years extended the privilege of a yearly health examination to its policy holders without cost. Arrangements with other companies are under consideration.

The institute will employ experts throughout the land to act as medical examiners and to co-operate in this new movement to prevent and to check disease. This suggests the method of the Chinese, who employ physicians to keep them well instead of to treat them after they have become seriously ill.

Widespread Co-operation.

The institute plans to make arrangements not only with life insurance companies, but with schools, industrial establishments, clubs and individuals, as well as to co-operate with hygienic agencies and movements of all kinds, including those connected with the tuberculosis movement, the social hygiene movement, the eugenics movement, the public health departments, federal, state and municipal, and even popular gymnastics and sports. It will establish laboratories in the larger cities for analysis of blood, urine, etc., of the persons examined. Its central office will be at 25 West Forty-fifth street, New York city.

The institute is fashioned somewhat after the model homes associations—that is, it will be a philanthropy exterminate the hookworm disease; Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone and a deep student of eugenics; Dr. C. B. Davenport of the eugenics record office; Dr. George H. Simmons, secretary of the American Medical association; Dr. William J. Mayo, the celebrated surgeon; Dr. William H. Welch of Johns Hopkins university; Professor Russell H. Chittenden, director of the Yale Sheffield Scientific school; President David Starr Jordan of the Carnegie Peace foundation; Miss Mabel Boardman of the Red Cross; Dr. Wickliffe Rose of the Rockefeller hookworm commission. Dr. Harvey W. Wiley of pure food fame, Dr. William H. Tolman of the American Museum of Safety and some seventy others, mostly technical experts in scientific hygiene.

The idea of forming the institute originated with Harold A. Ley, a business man of Springfield, Mass. The purposes and field of the institution were recently discussed at a dinner in New York city, attended by the presidents of the five largest life insurance companies. Among the speakers on this occasion were former President Taft and Colonel Gorgas.

How the Scheme Operates.

Following this meeting, one of the largest insurance companies represented made an agreement with the institute for periodical health examination of its policy holders. This is the first of the large companies to adopt this plan.

The method to be used to prolong life is very simple and the same as applied to ordinary machinery—inspection and repairs. Any person, whether as a policy holder in a company which employs the institute or as an outside individual, may have an expert examination made of his physical condition. If he is entitled to the examination as a policy holder he has it without cost to himself.

After the human machine has been inspected the individual will be advised to see his family physician, who will be furnished a full statement of the results of the examination—high blood pressure or whatever the disability or disabilities may be. Dr. Fisk on the basis of his experience in this work is convinced that the simple, early discovery of slight "impairments," which would induce the impaired man to consult his doctor be-conducted on a self supporting basis. It will charge a small fee for its work, and the persons who furnish the capital with which to start this institute have agreed that two-thirds of any profits which there may be beyond 5 per cent on the capital invested will be devoted to extending its public usefulness.

Benefit All Concerned.

A striking feature of the scheme is that all concerned are benefited—the insurance companies, the policy holders, the individuals examined and the public.

This newly invented institution is the result of a sentiment which has been growing several years among life insurance companies to reduce their losses from life waste, just as the fire insurance companies have for a long time striven to reduce their losses from fire waste.

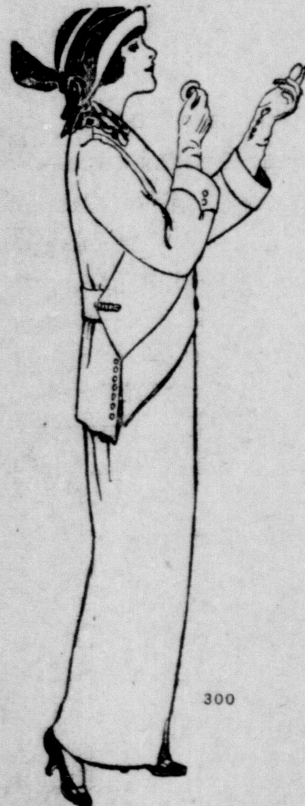

The hygiene reference board ultimately will aim to settle scientifically, so far as possible, the many disputed questions of personal hygiene. As yet personal hygiene has been neglected, especially in America, and "how to live" is a debatable question even among experts. The board will secure the co-operation of savants throughout the world to solve such fundamental problems as how best to ventilate our houses and how best to clothe and feed our bodies.

Just as Colonel Gorgas reduced the death rate in Panama to a small fraction of what it had been previously, so he and his associates now hope to cut it down in certain groups of people in America. They believe that in the course of time the results of this work may favorably influence the general death rate for the entire country.

VETERAN DOCTOR OF MILROY DIES

Dr. Samuel C. Thomas, Who Practiced Medicine in Anderson Township 55 Years, Expires.

PARALYSIS IS THE CAUSE

He is Survived by Four Children, Including E. B. Thomas of This City.

Samuel C. Thomas, 82 years old, a well known retired physician of Milroy, and father of Ernest B. Thomas of this city, died at his home there last night at nine o'clock. Dr. Thomas suffered a stroke of paralysis last Friday and because of his advanced age death had been expected. Dr. Thomas was one of the oldest physicians in the county and engaged in the practice of medicine in Milroy for fifty-five years, retiring from active practice only three or four years ago.

Dr. Thomas was a native of Hamilton county, Ohio, being born there March 5, 1832, and was the eldest of eleven children. He was the son of the late John and Abigail Thomas. His early boyhood was spent in Carthage, Ohio. At the age of eleven years he went to Darke county, where he remained on a farm until 1850, when he moved to Milroy, and taught school until 1853.

In this year, Dr. Thomas entered Asbury College, now DePauw University, and took up the study of medicine in the office of Dr. J. C. B. Wharton. In 1858 he graduated at the Eclectic College of Medicine at Cincinnati and began the practice of his profession in Milroy.

Dr. Thomas was married October 14, 1858 to Miss Emily Clements of Franklin, Ind. Mrs. Thomas died about fifteen years ago. Mr. Thomas was a life long member of the Methodist church and was a member of the Masonic lodge.

Besides Ernest B. Thomas of this city, he is survived by three other children, Claude Thomas of Mooresville, Mrs. E. N. Wicks of Anderson, and Mrs. E. H. Innis of Milroy.

The funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon at one-thirty o'clock in the Milroy Methodist church by the Rev. Clyde S. Black. Burial will take place in the Milroy cemetery.

Morton Hinchman and Bert Norris have purchased five passenger automobiles.

John Gray and Thomas Gray have filed a partition suit against Margaret E. Johnson.

Mrs. Rue P. Henley of Carthage underwent a successful operation at Sexton's sanatorium yesterday.

The funeral services of Spencer G. Angus will be conducted Thursday afternoon at the late residence in West Thrid street by the Rev. C. M. Yocum. Burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

The police have received many complaints recently about tramps which are passing through this city, and stop off here over night. The police are determined to put a stop to their dropping off here and are watching the depots and stock yards closely. Last night it was estimated by a person who saw a gang south of the city that there were fifteen in the bunch.

CLAIM VICTORY OVER PRESIDENT

Republicans of Seventh New Jersey District Declare Election Was Repudiation on Wilson Policies.

TARIFF WAS CHIEF ISSUE

Progressive Candidate Received Only 608 Votes, Showing Loss Over 1912 of 4,138 Votes.

(By United Press.)

Patterson, N. J., April 8.—Republicans here today were claiming a direct and sweeping victory over President Wilson and a repudiation of the policies of the national administration through the election yesterday of Dow H. Drukker, a Republican, to fill the unexpired term of the late Robert Bremner, Democrat.

Drukker was elected by a plurality of 5,275 votes, which was only 242 votes short of a majority over the Democratic, Socialist and Progressive candidates for the same seat. Drukker's total vote was 10,505.

Despite the fact that President Wilson gave him strong personal and administration support, James O'Byrne, Democratic candidate, got only 5,230 votes, which was 45 less than Drukker's plurality.

The Progressives polled only 608 votes. This was a loss of 4,138 votes from the Progressive showing in 1912.

Drukker is a protectionist and one of the principal issues of the contest was the tariff question.

Report of City Librarian, Mary Sleeth, Also Shows Increase of 69 Books During March.

CATALOGUER IS ENGAGED

The city library continues to be a popular place and the growth seems unlimited. The report of Miss Mary Sleeth, librarian, for the month of March shows that a total of 1,389 books were loaned. This is an increase of 89 over the previous month as an even 1,300 books were put out during February. In January the total number of books loaned was 1,196. During the month of March sixty new patrons came to the library. The total number now holding library cards is 2,093. During the last month sixty-nine new books were added.

The most popular books are "Lad-die," "Inside the Cup" and "The Light of the Western Stars." These books were the most called for of any. In the report of the New York City library and other large cities these books receive more attention than any others. During the last month there was a great demand for plays. In the juvenile books, the histories continue to be the most popular.

Miss Bertha Carter of Plainfield, Ind., has been engaged to catalogue the local library. Miss Carter has been employed in the state library and more recently in the public library at Seattle, Wash. She is an experienced cataloguer and will begin work the last of this month. It is expected that two months will be required for the work.

NEWSPAPER MEN GET 'TWO A DAY'

M. E. Church Has Nothing on Wilson Administration When it Comes to Conferences.

SEC. BRYAN IS VERY FORMAL

Representative has Novel Plan to Make Constitutents Read his Speech in Record

BY BURTON K. STANDISH
(Written for United Press.)

Washington, April 8.—The Methodist Church has no corner on the government now in power but it is a fact, nevertheless, that this is a "conference" Administration. "Conferences" are the rule, in the White House and in all the Departments. President Wilson holds conferences with the correspondents twice a week on Monday mornings and on Thursday afternoons. His Cabinet Secretaries hold conferences with the newspaper men twice daily. All information that the administration desires the public to have is given out at these conferences. At no other times are the President and his officials accessible to the "moulters of public opinion."

And be it known that these same conferences are fearsome and serious things. Whenever the Chief Executive or his Cabinet members are talking for publication, busy stenographers stand at their elbows and take down every word that is said, questions and answers, remarks about the weather, attempted jokes and everything.

Secretary of State William J. Bryan does the "two a day" with the newspaper men in more formal manner than any other members of the Administration. He announces 11 A. M. and 3:30 P. M. as his hours of conferences, but invariably it is a few minutes later before "Eddie", the veteran negro on the State Department door ushers the callers into the sanctum.

Bryan: Good morning, gentlemen.
Chorus: Good morning, Mr. Secretary. (Dead silence for half a minute.)

Bryan: I am sorry I have no news today.

Bold correspondent: Mr. Secretary, what about the Benton case?

Bryan: I do not recollect the Benton case. Let's see. Do we know anything about the Benton case? Long, oh, Long. Where's Long? (To a messenger) Send upstairs for Mr. Long. Note: Mr. Long is an Assistant Secretary of state in charge of Latin-American Affairs. In due time Long appears.

Bryan: Long, do we know anything about Benton?

Long: No, Mr. Secretary, we have no information on Benton.

Bryan: No, gentleman, the State Department has nothing on Benton.

Chorus: That's all, Mr. Secretary if there is no news.

Bryan: That's all. Sorry I have no information. (Business of filing out) Belated correspondent hurrying up: "Wad y'all get?"

Chorus: The same as we'll get tomorrow; the same as we got yesterday—nothing.

Mayor C. L. Bebout Issues An Arbor Day Proclamation

The State of Indiana, was in its natural condition, a forest of such varied magnificence that it had no superior in the whole country. From divers causes the wooded places have been decimated, until they are threatened with practical destruction, unless the people of the state come to the rescue with a systematic effort to stop the useless waste, and restore in some measure this valuable resource and multifarious asset of the state.

The State Board of Forestry and the State Forestry Association are co-operating in a movement for the planting of one million trees in Indiana on Arbor Day this year, and Rushville should do her part and this movement should have the united support of all patriotic citizens.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, CLATA L. BEBOUT, Mayor of the City of Rushville, in obedience to the laws of the state, and in recognition of the evils avoided and the benefits secured by this course, do hereby designate and proclaim

FRIDAY, APRIL 17, 1914, as ARBOR DAY.

Its careful observance by every public school in the city and all other schools is urged. It is also requested that all women's clubs, fraternal societies, commercial clubs and other organizations and individuals show regard for the day by planting trees and in such other ways as may to them seem most promotive of this important cause.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I, CLATA L. BEBOUT, have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the seal of the CITY OF RUSHVILLE, this 8th day of April, 1914.

to participate moisture around these parts, so surely can be heard a chorus of lamentations from the thousands of tourists who are within the capital's gates every day in the year. In no city in America, with the exception of New York, are so many visitors daily, winter and summer, spring and fall, as comes to Washington. They are all sight-seers, and naturally rain and snow interferes with their pleasures.

A recent belated snow-storm, which began in the night, caused hundreds of tourists to crowd every restaurant and other waiting place in the down-town district, while guide books were dejectedly consulted to see where the visitors might see sights under roof. Nearly all of the things in Washington worth seeing, are out-of-doors, the monument, Arlington, the White House and such. Inclement weather always finds great congestions in the Cooper Art Gallery, the Capitol corridors, the Congressional Library and the Department buildings, where the visitors may see things and keep dry. The guides in the official buildings always sigh when it begins to rain or snow. "Mo' rain, mo' rest" was a saying attributed to the old time negroes, but it is not echoed by the army of negroes employed around the public buildings of Washington.

"Hot Stuff" is the brand-new device of Representative James B. Aswell, of Louisiana, who evidently is aware that most editors consign "Congressional Record" frank envelopes to the waste-basket without even ascertaining their contents.

Representative Aswell made a speech before the House committee on Reform in the Civil Service in support of his bill to segregate the white and negro clerks in the Departments. Copies of the speech were mailed out broadcast by Aswell and on each envelope the words "Hot Stuff" were stamped in red letters.

Aswell made sure that no constituents and no unfeeling editor would pass up his effort without at least looking at it.

commercial service. It is understood that several residents here would take the service. The council ordered the petition referred back to the petitioners with instruction to show the council how much business the city could expect from extending the wires. The city desires to have an assurance of some sort of an income on the investment. The improvement would cost the city about $350, according to the water and light superintendent.

The finance committee reported that the books of the city treasurer had been found correct for the month of March and it was referred to the finance committee.

A. P. Wagoner, chairman of the street committee, reported that the contractors for the Masonic Temple desired to tunnel under the brick and make a new sewer tap. The contractor will be informed that if the old tap is in working order to use it and not tunnel under the street.

The chairman also brought to the attention of the council the blocking of several alleys. There is a law against blocking an alley. According to Mr. Wagoner, the chief offender was Lee Pyle. Mr. Pyle has completed a new building in North Morgan street and according to Mr. Wagoner the alley is almost impassable and he stated that he had told Mr. Pyle to keep it clear but he had not done so. The city marshal was instructed to notify Mr. Pyle, and then if it was not kept open, to bring charges.

The street recommended that the petition for sidewalks in North Oliver street be granted. On motion of Mr. Brann the committee was given further time on this matter.

Street oiling was again discussed but the city is as far from actual oiling as it was a month ago and seems to get no where on the proposition. A new plan, that of letting the city do the oiling, was suggested last night but under the 1913 law the oiling must be let by contract.

The old question of opening Wil low street from the dead end at the Pennsylvania railroad to Eleventh street was again brought before the council. Dr. P. H. Chadwick appeared before the council and presented the matter, telling the council where it was left off by the old council. When the old council retired this question of opening the street was left to the new council as unfinished business. The council will investigate before taking any action.

Results of Elections in Various States and Cities

Women make little impression on Chicago voting, all nine feminine candidates being defeated, including Miss Marion Drake, opposing "Bath house" John Coughlin for alderman.

Most of the cities and towns in Illinois option elections vote "dry." Springfield goes "wet."

O'Byrne, Wilson's candidate in New Jersey for Congress, is defeated by Republican.

Ten Missouri towns go Democratic five Independent and one Republican.

Mayor Henry D. Jost of Kansas City, Mo., is re-elected, with Democratic council.

Mayor Gerhardt A. Bading, non-partisan, defeats Emil Seidel, Socialist-Democratic candidate, by 5,000 in Milwaukee, Wis.

Several towns in Nebraska vote "dry."

NOVEL FEATURE FOR CONVENTION

School For Precinct Committeemen

Will be Held in Connection With State Republican Gathering.

FORMER CHAIRMAN TEACHERS

Interest in Coming Convention Continues to Grow—Brass Bands and Glee Clubs Are Going.

(Special to the Daily Republican)

Indianapolis, Ind., April 8.—The Republican State Committee has added to the program for the Republican State Convention that is to be held in this City on April 22 and 23 what probably will prove the most novel convention feature ever offered by any party in the political history of Indiana. At 10 o'clock on the morning of April 22 a "School for precinct committeemen" will be held in the assembly room of the Hotel Severin.

The members of the faculty of this school will be the former chairmen of the Republican State Committee—five in number. The "teachers" will be "Jack" Gowdy, former U. S. Consul General at Paris; Charles S. Hernley, of New Castle, known when he was at the head of the organization as "the king of precinct committeemen"; James P. Goodrich, Indiana member of the Republican National Committee; George F. McCullough and Fred A. Sims, former Secretary of State.

The "school" will be called to order by State Chairman Hays who will present his predecessors. These former Chairmen, each of whom is a past master at the game of politics, will speak on "organization." It is expected that this school will be productive of much good and go far towards helping the present committee realize its aim to make the organization in Indiana this year one of the most efficient and effective in years.

Interest in the coming State convention continues to grow. The impression prevails that the Republican who misses this convention will miss a history-making meeting and the strong demand for convention seats that is in evidence is the result. Announcement was made at state headquarters today that no tickets will be sent out in advance—those who make reservation by mail can secure their tickets by calling at State headquarters when they reach Indianapolis for the convention.

The program for the convention has been completed. April 22 has been turned over to the Lincoln League, the officers of which will have charge of a big smoker that is to be held in the assembly room of the Hotel Severin. The delegates, by districts, in session in rooms at the State House on the night of April 21, will select the members of the Convention committees. The Convention committees will meet on the same evening. The first session of the Convention proper will open at 2 p. m. April 22. That night smokers will be held at the Hotel Severin and the Marion Club with music and addresses by prominent Republicans. The final session will open at 10 a. m. April 23 when the Platform will be adopted and the State ticket named. Already word has reached State headquarters of the coming of a half dozen bands and a number of glee clubs. Old observers do not hesitate to predict that the Convention will be one of the largest and liveliest ever held.

THE CASE OF JENNIE BRICE

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

CHAPTER IV.

IT was after four when Mr. Holcombe had finished going over the room. I offered to make both the gentlemen some tea, for Mr. Pitman had been an Englishman, and I had got into the habit of having a cupful in the afternoon, with a cracker or a bit of bread. But they refused. Mr. Howell said he had promised to meet a lady, and to bring her through the flooded district in a boat. He shook hands with me and smiled at Mr. Holcombe.

"You will have to restrain his enthusiasm, Mrs. Pitman," he said. "He is a bloodhound on the scent. If his baying gets on your nerves just send for me." He went down the stairs and stepped into the boat. "Remember, Holcombe," he called, "every well constituted murder has two things—a motive and a corpse. You haven't either, only a mass of piling details." "If everybody waited until he saw flames instead of relying on the testimony of the smoke," Mr. Holcombe snapped, "what would the fire loss be?"

Mr. Howell poled his boat to the front door and, sitting down, prepared to row out.

"You are warned, Mrs. Pitman," he called to me. "If he doesn't find a body to fit the clues he's quite capable of making one to fill the demand."

"Horn!" said Mr. Holcombe, looking at the slip again. "The tail of the 'a' is torn off—evidently only part of a word. Hornet, Horning, Horner—Mrs. Pitman, will you go with me to the police station?"

I was more than anxious to go. In fact, I could not bear the idea of staying alone in the house, with heaven only knows what concealed in the depths of that muddy flood. I got on my wraps again, and Mr. Holcombe rowed me out. Peter plunged into the water to follow and had to be sent back. He sat on the lower step and whined. Mr. Holcombe threw him another piece of liver, but he did not touch it.

We rowed to the corner of Robinson street and Federal—it was before Federal street was raised above the flood level—and left the boat in charge of a boy there. And we walked to the police station. On the way Mr. Holcombe questioned me closely about the events of the morning, and I recalled the incident of the burned pillow slip. He made a note of it at once and grew very thoughtful.

He left me, however, at the police station. "I'd rather not appear in this, Mrs. Pitman," he said apologetically. "and I think better along my own lines—not that I have anything against the police; they've done some splendid work. But this case takes imagination, and the police department deals with facts. We have no facts yet. What we need, of course, is to have the man detained until we are sure of our case."

He lifted his hat and turned away, and I went slowly up the steps to the police station. Living, as I had, in a neighborhood where the police, like the poor, are always with us, and where the visits of the patrol wagon are one of those familiar sights that no amount of repetition enabled any of us to treat with contempt, I was uncomfortable until I remembered that my grandfather had been one of the first mayors of the city and that, if the patrol had been at my house more than once, the entire neighborhood would testify that my boarders were usually orderly. At the door some one touched me on the arm. It was Mr. Holcombe again. "I have been thinking it over," he said, "and I believe you'd better not mention the piece of paper that you found behind the washstand. They might say the whole thing is a hoax."

"Very well," I agreed, and went in. The police sergeant in charge knew me at once, having stopped at my house more than once in flood time for a cup of hot coffee.

"Sit down, Mrs. Pitman," he said. "I suppose you are still making the best coffee and doughnuts in the city of Allegheny? Well, what's the trouble in your district? Want an injunction against the river for trespass?"

"The river has brought me a good bit of trouble," I said. "I'm—I'm worried, Mr. Sergeant. I think a woman from my house has been murdered, but I don't know."

"Murdered!" he said, and drew up his chair. "Tell me about it."

I told him everything, while he sat back with his eyes half closed and his fingers beating a tattoo on the arm of his chair. When I finished he got up and went into an inner room. He came back in a moment.

"I want you to come in and tell that to the chief," he said, and led the way. All told, I repeated my story three times that afternoon—to the sergeant, to the chief of police and the third time to both the others and two detectives.

The second time the chief made notes of what I said.

"Know this man Ladley?" he asked the others. None of them did, but they all knew of Jennie Brice and some of them had seen her in the theater.

"Get the theater, Tom," the chief said to one of the detectives. Luckily what he learned over the telephone from the theater corroborated my story. Jennie Brice was not in the east that week, but should have reported that morning (Monday) to rehearse the next week's piece. No message had been received from her and a substitute had been put in her place.

The chief hung up the receiver and turned to me. "You are sure about the clock, Mrs. Pitman?" he asked. "It was there when they moved upstairs to the room?"

"Yes, sir." "You are certain you will not find it on the parlor mantel when the water goes down?"

"The mantels are uncovered now. It is not there."

"You think Ladley has gone for good?"

"Yes, sir."

"He'd be a fool to try to run away, unless—Graves, you'd better get hold of the fellow, and keep him until either the woman is found or the body. The river is falling. In a couple of days we will know if she is around the premises anywhere."

Before I left I described Jennie Brice for them carefully. Asked what she probably wore, if she had gone away as her husband said, I had no idea; she had a lot of clothes, and dressed a good bit. But I recalled that I had seen lying on the bed the black and white dress with the red collar, and they took that down, as well as the brown valise.

The chief rose and opened the door for me himself. "If she actually left town at the time you mention," he said, "she ought not to be hard to find. There are not many trains before 7 in the morning, and most of them are locals."

"And—and if she did not, if he—do you think she is in the house—or—the cellar?"

"Not unless Ladley is more of a fool than I think he is," he said, smiling. "Personally I believe she has gone away, as he says she did. But if she hasn't—He probably took the body with him when he said he was getting medicine and dropped it in the current somewhere. But we must go slow with all this. There's no use shouting 'wolf' yet."

"But—the towel?"

"He may have cut himself shaving. It has been done."

"And the knife?"

He shrugged his shoulders good naturedly.

"I've seen a perfectly good knife spoiled opening a bottle of pickles."

"But the slipper? And the clock?"

"My good woman, enough shoes and slippers are forgotten in the bottoms of cupboards year after year in flood

FEEBLE OLD PEOPLE

Are Told How to Regain Strength and Vigor.

As one grows old the waste of the system becomes more rapid than repair, the organs act more slowly and less effectively than in youth, the circulation is poor, the blood thin and digestion weak.

Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic with out oil is the ideal strengthener and body-builder for old folks, for it contains the very elements needed to rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength. Vinol also fortifies the system against colds and thus prevents pneumonia.

Mrs. Mary Ivey, of Columbus, Ga., says: "If people only knew the good Vinol does old people, I am sure you would be unable to supply the demand. I never took anything before that did me so much good as Vinol. It is the finest tonic and strength creator I ever used in my life."

time and are found floating around the streets to make all the old clothes men in town happy. I have seen almost everything floating about during one of these annual floods."

"I dare say you never saw an onyx clock floating around," I replied a little sharply. I had no sense of humor that day. He stopped smiling at once and stood tugging at his mustache.

"No," he admitted. "An onyx clock sinks, that's true. That's a very nice little point, that onyx clock. He may be trying to sell it or perhaps"—He did not finish.

I went back immediately, only stopping at the market to get meat for Mr. Reynolds' supper. It was after half past 5, and dusk was coming on. I got a boat and was rowed directly home. Peter was not at the foot of the steps. I paid the boatman and let him go and turned to go up the stairs. Some one was speaking in the hall above.

I have read somewhere that no two voices are exactly alike, just as no two violins ever produce the same sound. I think it is what they call the timbre that is different. I have, for instance, never heard a voice like Mr. Pitman's, although Mr. Harry Lauder's in a phonograph resembles it. And voices have always done for me what odors do for some people, revived forgotten scenes and old memories. But the memory that the voice at the head of the stairs brought back was not very old, although I had forgotten it. I seemed to hear again all at once the lapping of the water Sunday morning as it began to come in over the doorsill; the sound of Terry ripping up the parlor carpet and Mrs. Ladley calling me a she devil in the next room, in reply to this very voice.

But when I got to the top of the stairs it was only Mr. Howell, who had brought his visitor to the flood district, and on getting her splashed with the muddy water had taken her to my house for a towel and a cake of soap.

I lighted the lamp in the hall and Mr. Howell introduced the girl. She was a pretty girl, slim and young, and she had taken her wetting good naturedly.

"I know we are intruders, Mrs. Pitman," she said, holding out her hand. "Especially now, when you are in trouble."

"I have told Miss Harvey a little," Mr. Howell said, "and I promised to show her Peter, but he is not here."

I think I had known it was my sister's child from the moment I lighted the lamp. There was something of Alma in her, not Alma's hardness or haughtiness, but Alma's dark blue eyes with black lashes, and Alma's nose. Alma was always the beauty of the family. What with the day's excitement and seeing Alma's child like this, in my house, I felt things going round and clutched at the stair rail. Mr. Howell caught me.

"Why, Mrs. Pitman?" he said. "What's the matter?"

I got myself in hand in a moment and smiled at the girl.

"Nothing at all," I said. "Indigestion, most likely. Too much tea the last day or two and not enough solid food. I've been too anxious to eat."

Lida—for she was that to me at once, although I had never seen her before—Lida was all sympathy and sweetness. She actually asked me to go with her to a restaurant and have a real dinner. I could imagine Alma, had she known! But I excused myself.

"I have to cook something for Mr. Reynolds," I said, "and I'm better now, anyhow, thank you. Mr. Howell, may I speak to you for a moment?"

He followed me along the back hall, which was dusk.

"I have remembered something that I had forgotten. Mr. Howell," I said. "On Sunday morning the Ladleys had a visitor."

"Yes?"

"They had very few visitors."

"I see."

"I did not see him, but I heard his voice." Mr. Howell did not move, but I fancied he drew his breath in quickly. "It sounded—it was not by any chance you?"

"If a newspaper man, who goes to bed at 3 a. m. on Sunday morning, up and about at 10!"

"I didn't say what time it was," I said sharply.

But at that moment Lida called from the front hall.

"I think I hear Peter," she said. "He is shut in somewhere, whining."

We went forward at once. She was right. Peter was scratching at the door of Mr. Ladley's room, although I had left the door closed and Peter in the hall. I let him out, and he crawled to me on three legs, whimpering. Mr. Howell bent over him and felt the fourth.

"Poor little beast!" he said. "His leg is broken."

He made a splint for the dog, and with Lida helping they put him to bed in a clothes basket in my upstairs kitchen. It was easy to see how things lay with Mr. Howell. He was all eyes for her. He made excuses to touch her hand or her arm, little caressing touches that made her color brighten. And with it all there was a sort of hopelessness in his manner, as if he knew how far the girl was out of his reach. Knowing Alma and her pride, I knew better than they how hopeless it was.

I was not so sure about Lida. I wondered if she was in love with the boy or only in love with love. She was very young, as I had been. God help her if, like me, she sacrificed everything to discover too late that she was only in love with love.

Wabash, Ind., April 8.—That bichloride of mercury, heralded far and wide as a deadly poison, seems to be harmless when it comes to a Hoosier is indicated here and at Peru by two recent cases of poisoning. Miss Goida Howell, who took two tablets or fifteen grains, of the poison, is about the house, happy and well, apparently none the worse for the drug that is said to be fatal.

Henry Cameron of Peru, also gave the lie to the bichloride-of-mercury "fable." Having taken thirty grains in an attempt at suicide, he was said for days to be lying between life and death in a hospital there. One night when no one was looking, he suddenly became well enough to make his get-away.

Cameron came to Peru to marry. He came all the way from Honolulu. When he found the girl had married another man, he went to a saloon, bought a beer, and washed down the four mercury tablets. That should have settled it, according to precedent, but it did not, and Cameron may now be on his way back to Honolulu.

CANNED EGGS TO BE IN DEMAND

Department of Agriculture is Doing Much to Encourage This Industry
in America

WOULD BE MUCH CHEAPER

Keep in Can for Over Year and Said to be Good—New Market Found

(By United Press.)

Washington, April 8.—"One can of condensed milk, a can of asparagus tips, a can of beans, a can of beef and A CAN OF EGGS."

When the American grocer answers his telephone a few years hence he will probably get some such an order, for the Department of Agriculture is doing much to encourage the canning of eggs and claims that there are now more logical reasons for canned eggs than for almost any other food product now sold in tins.

For one thing canned eggs will be cheaper than eggs in the shell for they will have been put up in the great egg producing farm corn belt at the time when hens are laying and fresh eggs are almost a drug on the market. The cans can be shipped in refrigerator cars closely packed and there will be no waste space for cardboard packing, while the present 10 per cent loss for breakage will be saved.

Before the Department endorsed there canning of eggs its specialists made a long and thorough bacteriological study of eggs to determine what changes they underwent and what factors made them spoil. This spoiling was found to be due almost entirely to growing bacteria in the egg—a little warmth and a little air, and the damage was done. With other products the secret was found to be absolute cleanliness and heat. With eggs it is the same cleanliness combined with good grading and cold.

Canned eggs have been tested after having been kept in storage a year and their quality and flavor found unimpaired. As one investigator put it, the chief difference was that you opened them with a can opener instead of a spoon. They come to the consumer frozen and when melted they look and smell like fresh eggs broken into a bowl and stirred until the whites and yolks are mixed, except that they are a little thicker. Similar experiments have been made with dried eggs or egg powder, and this, too, will keep for months provided it is kept at a low temperature. It is hardly possible, therefore, that canned or dried eggs will be ever displaced on store shelves.

An egg plant, which the Department regards as a standard looks more like the modern operating room of a hospital than a commercial institution. The eggs on their arrival at the plant are sent to a chilled room and kept there for 24 hours at a temperature a few degrees above freezing. Then they are candled and all suspicious ones are discarded.

The graded eggs then go to the refrigerated room that is as aseptic and as well lighted as it is possible to make it. No dust or flies can get in and the temperature never rises above 65 degrees. It is water tight and steam proof so that it can be washed and steamed throughout. The utensils for breaking the eggs are all metal so they can be sterilized in live steam. Before beginning work the operatives sterilize their hands much as a surgeon does before beginning an operation. The similarity also extends to the donning of clean white caps and gowns.

Each egg is broken into a separate cup and inspected before being put into the sterilized cans. Every doubtful egg is discarded, the can up again sterilized and the operatives hands washed before touching another egg. In order to make certain that each egg gets sufficient attention the egg breakers are not allowed to exceed a definite number of eggs per hour.

The canning of eggs is of immense benefit to the farmer because it provides him with a steady market at a time when warm weather makes it imperative that he dispose of his product in a hurry. It is also a market for small eggs, dark shelled eggs and other varieties that do not sell well in the shell.

Kansas farmers have just discovered a market for one of the most obnoxious of the native weeds, and all that now remains to make the state the greatest in the Union is for some scientist to discover a way to get oil from grasshoppers.

For decades the soap weed or Spanish bayonet, has been the bugbear of the western Kansan, but he is now baling it and selling it to the soap manufacturers at $8 a ton, says a bulletin recently issued by the forest service. For unnumbered years the Mexican and Indian women used a concoction of the weed to wash their hair, but it took the white man a long time to learn its value.

It has become a pest in many of the national forests as its growth has a deleterious effect on all other vegetation. It has been roundly condemned by stockmen as it often killed cattle indiscreet enough to eat it. Its newly discovered commercial value, however, promises not only to clear it from the open prairies, but its cultivation is not an improbability.

The oak begins to rot at the heart at the age of about three hundred years.

The average length of life in Sweden is slightly more than fifty years, which is very high.

Recent statistics credit United states with about one automobile for each two miles of the country road.

The water of the Swiss city of Basle is so injurious to teeth that a municipal dental clinic has been established.

Successful wireless telephoning has been carried on in Germany and Austria over a distance of three hundred miles.

English paint manufacturers have found oil made from seeds of Brazilian rubber trees an acceptable substitute for linseed oil.

One of the French manufacturers has produced a hydroaeroplane so powerful that it is in reality little less than a flying tugboat.

Experts have figured that Ecuador by the application of scientific methods could increase its present agricultural yield by 150 per cent.

Insects do not attack the Himalaya cedar. It is strong, elastic, and the average weight is only about thirty-five pounds to the cubic foot.

The verdict of a jury in a criminal case in Arkansas has been set aside because the jury consumed nine quarts of whisky in reaching a conclusion.
